SELLING A CALF.—Yesterday afternoon, of-ficers Crown and Baily arrested Geo. Lucas, colored, who resides on M street, between 19th and 13th, on the charge of obtaining money under false pretences, and his wife, Anna Lucas, for disorderly conduct. It appears that Lucas sold a calf to Mr. G. S. Hoover for three dellars, and the latter went to Lucas' house to get it, when Anna Lucas seized a stick and drove him from the premises. Both parties were thereupon arrested and brought to the station, where a hearing was had before Justice Walter, which resulted in the dismissal of the charge of obtaining money under false pre-tences against Lucas, and the fining of his wife 85 for disorderly conduct. After the trial had been concluded both parties went home, the wife reaching there first, and on the appearance of the husband she attacked him, and drove him from the house, pushing him closely until he reached the station, a distance of nearly a mile, attracting a crowd of from one to two hundred persons. Lucas procured a warrant for her arrest for disorderly conduct. assault and battery, &c., which was served by officers Crown and Baily, and she was locked up for a hearing.

THE DOG THAT SWALLOWED THE GREEN-BACK .- Friday night quite a number were partaking of lager at a saloon on 10th street, and among them a young man who had with him a favorite dog. In the course of the evening a substantial looking German, after calling for a lager, laid a $2 greenback apon a chair, and the dog, who had been picking up fragments of sausage and crackers, jumped up on the chair and swallowed the note. Some bystanders noticed the act and apprized the German of his loss, who waxed wrothy thereat and want. ed to know of the owner "Vat in der tyvel you go mit sich a tog for !" The owner replied that he couldn't help what the dog did, and the German insisted that he should pay for what the dog did, and the dispute promised to get heated when the dog, either affected by a quaim of conscience, or with stomach unsettled by the green ink of the note, suddenly brought the question to an amicable settlement by disgorging the bill, and the German exultingly reclaimed it, planked it on the counter and called for lager all around.

ARRESTED AT THE WORKHOUSE .- For some time past some of the workhouse women, who are under medical treatment and quartered in the tents on the farm, have been visited after nightfall by a big sailor named Patrick Hawkins, who, as often as he came, would leave them drunk. Last night the Intendant, Mr. Hodgson, determined that he would eatch him if possible, and for that purpose set a watch. About 12 o'clock three persons, Hawkins and two Marines, made their appearance and were ordered not to enter when Hawkins rushed past the watchman into one of the tents. Mr. Hodgson was at once informed and going to the tent took him in custody, not, however, without some trouble, and locked him up. The Marines were allowed to leave and Hawkins will, to-day, be sent to the Navy Yard where he belongs.
